ONE DAY WORKSHOP: UNDERSTANDING AND MANAGING SKIN ALLERGIES IN YOUR PET - THE NATURAL WAY!

IS YOUR PET ITCHY??? Are they suffering from skin allergies and associated problems? Do they have red, inflamed or scabby skin, hotspots, sensitivity to fleas, hair loss, dry or greasy skin (or both), brown discolouration where the licking has occurred and do they incessantly scratch, lick and chew?

If so, your dog or cat is NOT alone! It's estimated around 20% or more of pets are suffering from skin allergies and this number is on the rise. In fact, in 2016 statistics show that skin allergies is THE top reason pet owners visit their vets!

In this ONE DAY WORKSHOP, we'll be taking an in depth look at what skin allergies are to gain a full understanding of the factors at play. Knowledge is power and when you have a full understanding of what is occurring in your pet's body for this to develop, you are better able to deal with it.

In addition, we want to get to those underlying causes and look at some natural ways to help manage the condition from this perspective. For many pets, allergies are all about management as opposed to cure, especially if genetics are at play. But for the health of your pet, using natural medicines is always the preferred option as these work with our pet's individual body's and do not create those damaging side effects associated with the commonly prescribed medications such as steroids and antibiotics.

Some of the things we will cover include:

- >Understanding the allergy process
- >The issues associated with the conventional approach

UNDERSTANDING AND MANAGING SKIN ALLERGIES IN YOUR PET - THE NATURAL WAY!

>The importance of gut health and why this is often at the root of many allergy issues

>Dietary considerations
